Honors Physics 1 is a course designed for high school students in grades 11 & 12. The honors course includes more breadth and more depth than the CP1 course, and includes most (but not all) of the content covered in AP[®] Physics 1. Units studied include laboratory & mathematics, motion & forces, work, energy & momentum, electricity & magnetism, waves, heat, and atomic, particle & nuclear physics.

Honors & AP Physics 1

This is an algebra-based course in general physics. For AP Physics 1 students it's roughly equivalent to an introductory algebra-based university-level physics "mechanics" (motion and forces) course. For Honors Physics students, the course is not quite as rigorous (they will not always have the same class assignments and expectations as the AP group). This course covers the topics in the tables below.

Three objects are positioned along the x axis as follows: 4.4 kg at $x = + 1.1$ m, 3.7 kg at $x = - 0.80$ m, and 2.9 kg at $x = -1.6$ m. The acceleration due to gravity is the same everywhere. What is the distance from the location of the center of gravity to the location of the center of mass for this system?
